

The Consumer Financial Protection Agency

If at first you don't succeed,

TRY, TRY, TRY,

TRY, TRY,

TRY, TRY

again?

We already have seven federal agencies that are supposed to protect consumers, but Congress is planning to create another one, the Consumer Financial Protection Agency. So rather than improve the existing seven, their solution is to just add another one to the lineup.

Let's not confuse making government bigger with making government better.

www.stopthecfpa.com